- we recommend that you acquire the financial product; or

What financial services can we provide?

Our Australian Financial Services Licence authorises us to deal in and provide advice about the following financial products:

- basic deposit products – our transaction, savings and term deposit accounts
- non-cash payment facilities – such as Visa card, telephone, mobile & internet banking,
- term or investment deposit accounts that are not basic deposit products;
- general insurance

Please note that the only information we provide in this FSG about our basic deposit products and noncash payment facilities is about our contact details and our dispute resolution system under "What should you do if you have a complaint?"*

In addition to the financial services we provide under our Australian Financial Services Licence, we also deal in and advise on consumer and commercial lending products.

On whose behalf do we provide financial services?

We generally provide financial services on our own behalf. However, when we arrange to issue insurance products, we do so on behalf of the insurers who are the product issuers. Details of who the relevant product issuer is will be included in the Product Disclosure Statement for that insurance product.

What remuneration or other benefits do we receive for providing financial services?

We do not receive fees or commissions for financial product advice we give or for issuing our non-basic term or investment products.

We may receive commissions from an insurer when we arrange an insurance product, as set out below:

- general insurance products – we receive up to 15% commission for new business and renewals depending on the product;

If you receive personal advice from us in relation to insurance products, we will be required to provide you with more detailed information about the amount of commission that we may receive or the method in which commission is calculated.

What remuneration or other benefits do our employees receive for providing financial services?

As a rule, our staff are remunerated principally by salary and do not receive any direct benefits for providing you with financial services in relation to our non-basic term or investment deposit accounts or insurance products.

From time to time we may allow insurers to run promotion programs under which they may reward or provide benefits to our staff for their success in arranging the issue of insurance products during the promotion period.

What should you do if you have a complaint?

We conduct a dispute resolution system to deal with any complaints you may have about any of our banking products or services, or about any financial service we provide in relation to insurance products. Our dispute resolution policy requires us to deal with any complaint efficiently, speedily and sympathetically. If you are not satisfied with the way in which we have tried to resolve your complaint, or if we do not respond speedily, you may refer the complaint to our external dispute resolution centre.

If you want to make a complaint, contact our staff at any branch and tell them that you want to make a complaint. Our staff has a duty to deal with your complaint under our dispute resolution policy. Our staff must also advise you about our complaint handling process and the timetable for handling your complaint.

We have an easy to read Complaints Policy on our dispute resolution system available to you on request. If you are not satisfied with our response, or handling of your complaint, you may refer the matter to the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA). AFCA provides a free and independent external resolution service.
